

YVONNE COOPER
PLAYING WITH CLAY FULL TIME

I've been playing with clay for 40 plus years. I love the different stages that the clay goes through, from wet and impressionable to leather hard to bone dry to bisque to final fired; each stage presenting its challenges and rewards.

Leiomyosarcoma changed my life. As most cancers do, I found myself in a state of uncertainty. Over the past nine years, I've rebuilt my body and through my art, I've expressed every step of the way. We all have challenges. My hope is to share my experiences and through my work, help you with your challenges too. Sending healing hugs with every piece.

Yvonne Cooper graciously donates her mugs to support the National Leiomyosarcoma Foundation. Once a patient of Leiomyosarcoma herself, Yvonne knows why supporting the Foundation is so necessary.

Leiomyosarcoma - Leio means "smooth" Myo means "muscle" LMS is a malignant (cancer) tumor of smooth muscle cells that can arise almost anywhere in the body – commonly in the abdomen, pelvis, or uterus. Soft tissues include: fat, muscle, nerves, tendons, blood, lymph vessels.

When you purchase a handmade clay mug, you are donating the entire expense to the NLMS Foundation. Grants are approved to renowned researchers upon medical board approval. The research such as immunotherapy can be the answer to other cancers. Besides LMS Research Funding, Patient/Family Education and Support is provided through symposiums.
